

Therapeutic Social Work

Presented by Dr Karen Treisman and Joanne Alper

Sometimes called direct work or family support, this course is tailored to the specific needs of social workers supporting families caring for children with a history of attachment difficulties and developmental trauma.

This seven day bespoke course will be spread over 8 months and will provide participants with information, strategies and tools that can support families with:

- Relational and developmental trauma
- Emotional regulation
- Rejecting behaviours
- Adolescents
- Aggressive and controlling behaviour
- Sexualised behaviour
- Stretching the truth and taking items
- Life story work

No therapy qualifications ? No clinical supervision ? But still need to safely therapeutically support families caring for children with a history or relational trauma and attachment difficulties ? Then find out more about this new course.....
